DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 20-22 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected method, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 4 recites the limitation "fastening assembly" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 6 recites the limitation "fastening structure" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3679

5. Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kowalski.

In regard to claim 1, Kowalski discloses a fitting 34 and pipe section assembly (10, 22, 24) that is capable of being installed in tubing of a jetted bath to render the tubing adaptable to accept a close fit heater device, comprising:

a pipe section (22, 24, 10) having a center segment 10 between inlet and outlet end portions 22, 24 for fluid flow coupling to an inlet 18 and an outlet 20 of the tubing;

first and second fittings 31 disposed on the inlet and outlet portions 18, 20 of the pipe section;

wherein the center segment 10 of the pipe section may be selectively removed leaving the inlet and outlet portions 18, 20 including the first and second fittings 31; and wherein the fitting and pipe section assembly may accept the close fit device 88 between the inlet and outlet portions of the fitting and pipe section assembly.

In regard to claim 4, the close fit device 88 may be removably secured to the fittings by the fastening assembly.

6. Claims 1 and 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rosecrans, Sr.

In regard to claim 1, Kowalski discloses a fitting and pipe section assembly that is capable of being installed in tubing of a jetted bath to render the tubing adaptable to accept a close fit heater device, comprising:

a pipe section 12 having a center segment (space between fittings 14, 15) between inlet 14 and outlet 15 end portions for fluid flow coupling to an inlet and an outlet of the tubing;

Art Unit: 3679

first 14 and second 15 fittings disposed on the inlet and outlet portions of the pipe section 12;

wherein the center segment 12 of the pipe section may be selectively removed leaving the inlet and outlet portions including the first and second fittings (the fitting may be cut just to the right of 14 and just to the left of 15, thereby removing 12 and leaving 14 and 15); and

wherein the fitting and pipe section assembly may accept the close fit device between the inlet and outlet portions of the fitting and pipe section assembly.

In regard to claim 3, the fitting 14, 15 and pipe section assembly 12 is a unitary body.

In regard to claim 4, a close fit device may be removably secured to the fittings 16 by a fastening assembly (any assembly means could be used to secure a close fit device to the fittings 14, 15).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kowalski in view of McLaughlin. Kowalski discloses a fitting as described above with a seal 80 which is positioned between the fitting 31 and the flange 34. Kowalski also discloses a nut 14. However, Kowalski does not disclose that the nut is split or that there is a split nut retainer. McLaughlin teaches supplying a pipe section 1 and fitting with a union nut 10 and a split nut retainer 15 in order to more easily facilitate assembly of the pipe assembly. Therefore it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the nut of Kowalski to include a split nut, as taught by McLaughlin so that the fitting could be assembled more easily by allowing the nut to be placed over the fitting at numerous points during the assembly process

9. Claims 7 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kowalski in view of Thweatt. Kowalski discloses teaches replacing one pipe section 10 with another 88. However, Kowalski does not specifically disclose that one of the devices is a heating device. Thweatt teaches that placing a heating device (fig. 14) between tubing is common and routine in the art. Therefore it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the devices of Kowalski to include heating devices, because the practice of placing heating devices in line with a tubing sections is common and routine in the art, as demonstrated by Thweatt.

10. Claims 8-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kowalski in view of Luff. Kowalski discloses a fitting as described above. However, Kowalski does not disclose that the pipe section can be replaced with a T-fitting. Luff teaches replacing a linear pipe (fig. 4) with a T junction having a transverse pipe branch 2 which may be removably fastened to a transverse tubing segment of a jetted tub in order to increase the versatility of the pipe section assembly. . Therefore it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the pipe section of Kowalski to include a T junction, as taught by Luff, in order to increase the way in which the pipe section assembly can be utilized.

Art Unit: 3679

Allowable Subject Matter

11. Claims 10-19 are allowed.
12. Claim 2 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

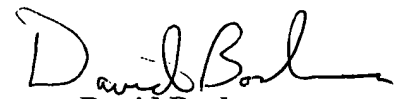

Conclusion

13. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Robertson, Cretzler, Brodie, Callahan, Jr., et al., Woodling, Patterson and Koschinski all disclose similar fittings common in the art.
